Introduction

Welcome to Parenting Today 2020, the third series of free talks in libraries in County Wexford. This year, for the first time, parenting talks will also be offered in four community venues in Bridgetown, Raheen, Ramsgrange and Taghmon.

Wexford County Council Public Library Service is committed to providing quality information and resources to support parents, children and young people. Parenting Today has been carefully developed in response to feedback from parents. Events are designed to be relevant and informative and to offer an opportunity for families to interact with practitioners working in the community care, education and health sectors. The audience will be an integral part of each session with questions and discussion encouraged.

The keynote lecture by parenting expert and author, Val Mullally will explore “why children have melt downs, answer back and refuse to listen”. This lecture will take place in Wexford Library on Tuesday 18th February at 7.00pm.

Other talks in the series cover many aspects of parenting from Asthma to Anxiety, and from TikTok to “Taking Care of you as a Parent”. Parenting a child with special needs with ADHD, Dyspraxia, Down Syndrome and Dyslexia will all be featured in this year’s programme.

Other invaluable talks will focus on anxiety, first aid, drugs, de-stressing techniques and positive discipline. We will address common concerns that parents have about their child’s speech and language development; how to successfully master breast feeding and how to enable your child to sleep through the night.

Last but not least, we offer you talks and practical sessions to support literacy and to foster a love of reading with your child. These are sessions that parents can attend and enjoy with their child.

I hope you enjoy these parenting talks and we look forward to introducing you to the free library services including an excellent collection of parenting books and e-books available to you at your local library.

For more information and to book your place for any event, please contact your local library.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the help and support of our partners in the Wexford Children & Young People’s Services Committee (CYPSC) in delivering this programme.

Eileen Morrissey
Wexford County Librarian

Wexford Children & Young People's Services Committee (CYPSC)

Wexford CYPSC is delighted to collaborate once again with Wexford County Council Public Library Service to bring you another series of "Parenting Today". This is the third round of the series and once again we have a great range of speakers on a wide spectrum of topics that we hope will be of interest to parents and guardians.

This year, for the first time, we are adding a number of community based talks to the schedule. This will increase accessibility, offering families a choice of nine different venues throughout County Wexford.

It is important to acknowledge all those who have contributed to the development of this series – Wexford Public Library Service personnel, the speakers and the host venues in the library branches and community venues. I would also like to acknowledge funding support for this initiative from the Department of Children & Youth Affairs.

Wexford CYPSC brings together all the agencies and organisations in Co. Wexford that have a remit to support children and young people aged 0-24 years. Our ultimate aim is to improve outcomes for children and families in Co. Wexford.

To learn more about Wexford CYPSC, please see www.wexfordcypsc.ie. For information on the CYPSC initiative nationally, please see www.cypsc.ie.

For further information on Parenting Supports, please see www.tusla.ie/parenting-24-seven.

Wexford CYPSC is also pleased to support Wexford Parents Hub, a first point of contact for information on parenting programmes and supports that are available in Co. Wexford. Details of all talks in this series will also be available on the Hub. You can access the Hub online at www.wexfordcypsc.ie/wexford-parents-hub or on facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/wexfordparentshub/>

Speaker: Carina McEvoy, Therapist & Author

After this workshop you will:

- Know exactly what anxiety is and the science behind it
- Know how your child experiences anxiety in their body and displays it in their language and behaviour
- Know how you can limit the hyper-anxiety currently being experienced today
- Know how to talk to your child about anxiety
- Carry out a collection of therapeutic techniques to relieve your child's anxiety

Carina is the author of 'Sometimes I worry...how about you?' and 'Sometimes my child worries...what do I do?'. She has worked previously as a secondary school teacher and is qualified in Clinical Hypnotherapy and Psychotherapy. Carina battled social phobia, OCD, self-harm, depression and severe anxiety in her teenage years and early adulthood. She works very successfully with parents and schools all over Wexford to advise and support them in helping their children to overcome anxiety issues.

Why 'Good Kids' Have Meltdowns, Answer Back & Won't Listen

Speaker: Val Mullally

In this workshop aimed at parents of children aged 3 to 10 years old you will:

- Discover why your otherwise “well-behaved” child isn't always easy – and what a parent can do to create a home environment where every family member can thrive
- Be guided through how to parent mindfully and respond in a way that will create more enjoyable family relationships and happier, more co-operative children
- Learn how to respond if you feel worried or frustrated by your child's behaviour and how to handle challenging interactions
- Discover how to build a strong, positive relationship with your child

Val Mullally is a Parenting Expert, author, accredited Life Coach and a trainer in a Coaching Approach to Parenting, she works with parents, counsellors, psychotherapists, mediators, play therapists, midwives, educators, social workers, and health visitors, to create more enjoyable and fulfilling family life.

Wexford Library, Tuesday 18th February, 7.00pm

Drugs: What every parent needs to know!

Speaker: Andy Hargreaves

Just as you protect your children against illnesses like measles, you can also help to 'immunize' them against drug use by giving them the facts before they're in a risky situation. Children who aren't properly informed are at greater risk of engaging in unsafe behaviours so parents are vital in preventing misinformation and experimentation. This talk will be informal and will look at how drug use can affect individuals, families, communities and society. Questions will be encouraged.

Andy is the HSE Drug Education Officer in Wexford. He has many years of experience in this area working in Wexford, Waterford and Carlow.

It will be an experiential workshop and will be particularly useful for parents who feel their child is anxious and want to learn practical positive and simple strategies to help them

New Ross Library, Tuesday 9th June, 7.00pm

Down Syndrome: See and Learn Programme

Speaker: Gavin McDonnell, Down Syndrome Ireland

“See and Learn” resources are designed to meet the specific learning needs of children with Down syndrome. They can also be helpful for other children experiencing similar learning challenges.

Children with Down syndrome often need more explicit instruction, together with lots of practice and rehearsal to learn and retain new skills. “See and Learn” resources are designed to be easy to use at home by parents and carers for regular teaching and practice. They are also suitable for use in schools for additional one-to-one targeted teaching and in individual and group therapy sessions. Join Gavin McDonnell to learn more about:

- “See and Learn” Speech to develop their speech sound system, and to produce clear speech
- “See and Learn” Language and Reading is designed to teach children with Down Syndrome early vocabulary, sight words, simple phrases and sentences, and grammar rules
- “See and Learn” Numbers is designed to teach young children to count, to link numbers to quantity and to understand important concepts about the number system

Gavin is the “See and Learn” Project Officer with Down Syndrome Ireland, offering training to early years educators. Gavin has a younger brother who has Down Syndrome. His background is in Psychology and he is currently working on his Masters with the ultimate aim of working as a clinical psychologist specialising in Down Syndrome.

Breast Feeding

Speaker: Public Health Nurse

Breastfeeding offers a newborn's first vaccine, providing vital antibodies and an immunity boost. It is one of the most effective ways to provide your child with the best start in life. To mark World Breast Feeding Week, Gorey Library will host this talk to support parents in breastfeeding and to emphasise the benefits of establishing exclusive breastfeeding. Feeding babies breast milk for the first six months has a myriad of benefits, among them, it promotes brain development, protects against allergies and eczema, reduces the risk of viruses and reduces the risk of children becoming overweight.

Gorey Library,
Thursday 6th August, 11.00am

Taking Care of You as a Parent

Speaker: Peadar Maxwell, Chartered Psychologist

Making time for self-care is hard for parents. As parents and carers we tend to put the needs of our children first, often running ourselves ragged in the process. Remember the old adage of the oxygen mask, 'You have to put on your own mask first, before you can help others with theirs'.

The results of looking after yourself are that you become happier and less stressed and your children will also be happier, less stressed and less likely to 'act out'. Join Peadar to learn more about this important topic.

Peadar Maxwell is the Senior Psychologist in the Child, Adolescent and Family Department team with the HSE, Wexford. Peadar has practised psychology, specialising in child, adolescent and family psychology for twenty years and is a highly experienced public speaker in the area of family support.

Tired of Time Outs: Discipline instead of Punishment

Speaker: Peadar Maxwell, Chartered Psychologist

Your patience is running low, your frustration is running high, and your kid is running everywhere! We've all had bad days when we've used up everything in our bag of tricks and nothing seems to calm the craziness.

If time-outs and other traditional discipline methods don't seem to be working, trying another approach is probably a good idea. Learn from Peadar Maxwell how to manage your child's behaviour constructively and discover how to put in place, discipline strategies that really work.
